PHILANTHROPY

The Power of Charitable Donations to Main Line Health

Each year, Main Line Health, as a non-profit organization, receives thousands of charitable donations – large and small – from the community.

Many people make gifts to the Annual Fund, which are put to immediate use in support of our highest priority needs. Others make special gifts to projects such as capital campaigns that fund new facilities and technology. Yet others focus on the future with planned gifts, such as a bequest in their will or a life-income gift to establish an endowment in an area of their interest.

Whether it is a gift of cash, stock, real estate or insurance, philanthropy is more than a proud tradition at Main Line Health. Gifts from grateful patients and friends provide vital resources that support many mission-driven programs that operating revenue alone cannot.

Our mission and your generosity – a powerful partnership benefiting our community far into the future.
