A Summary of Your Rights Under the Fair Credit Reporting Act

The federal Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) promotes the accuracy, fairness, and privacy of information in the files of consumer reporting agencies. There are many types of consumer reporting agencies, including credit bureaus and specialty agencies (such as agencies that sell information about check writing histories, medical records, and rental history records). Here is a summary of your major rights under the FCRA. For more information, including information about additional rights, go to http://www.ftc.gov/credit or write to: Consumer Response Center, Room 130-A, Federal Trade Commission, 600 Pennsylvania Ave. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20580.

- You must be told if information in your file has been used against you. Anyone who uses a credit report or another type of consumer report to deny your application for credit, insurance, or employment or to take another adverse action against you must tell you, and must give you the name, address, and phone number of the agency that provided the information.
- You have the right to know what is in your file. You may request and obtain all the information about you in the files of a consumer reporting agency (your "file disclosure"). You will be required to provide proper identification, which may include your Social Security number. In many cases, the disclosure will be free. You are entitled to a free file disclosure if:
 - a person has taken adverse action against you because of information in your credit report;
 - you are the victim of identify theft and place a fraud alert in your file;
 - your file contains inaccurate information as a result of fraud;
 - you are on public assistance;
 - you are unemployed but expect to apply for employment within 60 days.

In addition, by September 2005 all consumers will be entitled to one free disclosure every 12 months upon request from each nationwide credit bureau and from nationwide specialty consumer reporting agencies. See http://www.ftc.gov/credit for additional information.

- You have the right to ask for a credit score. Credit scores are numerical summaries of your credit-worthiness based on information from credit bureaus. You may request a credit score from consumer reporting agencies that create scores or distribute scores used in residential real property loans, but you will have to pay for it. In some mortgage transactions, you will receive credit score information for free from the mortgage lender.
- You have the right to dispute incomplete or inaccurate information. If you identify information in your file that is incomplete or inaccurate, and report it to the consumer reporting agency, the agency must investigate unless your dispute is frivolous. See http://www.ftc.gov/creditfor an explanation of dispute procedures.
- Consumer reporting agencies must correct or delete inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information.
 Inaccurate, incomplete or unverifiable information must be removed or corrected, usually within 30 days. However, a consumer reporting agency may continue to report information it has verified as accurate.
- Consumer reporting agencies may not report outdated negative information. In most cases, a consumer reporting agency may not report negative information that is more than seven years old, or bankruptcies that are more than 10 years old.
- Access to your file is limited. A consumer reporting agency may provide information about you only to people with a valid need -- usually to consider an application with a creditor, insurer, employer, landlord, or other business. The FCRA specifies those with a valid need for access.
- You must give your consent for reports to be provided to employers. A consumer-reporting agency may not give out information about you to your employer, or a potential employer, without your written consent given to the employer. Written consent generally is not required in the trucking industry.* For more information, go to www.ftc.gov/credit.

You may limit "prescreened" offers of credit and insurance you get based on information in your credit report. Unsolicited "prescreened" offers for credit and insurance must include a toll-free phone number you can call if you choose to remove your name and address from the lists these offers are based on. You may opt-out with the nationwide credit bureaus at 1-888-5-OPTOUT (1-888-567-8688).

- You may seek damages from violators. If a consumer reporting agency, or, in some cases, a user of consumer reports or a furnisher of information to a consumer reporting agency violates the FCRA, you may be able to sue in state or federal court.
- Identity theft victims and active duty military personnel have additional rights. For more information, visit www.ftc.gov/credit.

States may enforce the FCRA, and many states have their own consumer reporting laws. In some cases, you may have more rights under state law. For more information, contact your state or local consumer protection agency or your state Attorney General. Federal enforcers are:

QuantiFERON - TB Gold in-Tube test (QFT)

Q: What is QuantiFERON TB Gold in-Tube test?

A: QuantiFERON - TB Gold in-Tube is an accurate. blood test that provides results showing if someone is either infected or not with the TB bacterium. QFT is unaffected by previous BCG vaccinations and most other environmental mycobacteria.

Q: Why is the QuantiFERON test better than the TB skin test?

A: The results through QFT are shown to be more accurate at detecting a tuberculosis infection than a TB skin test. A traditional TB skin test requires multiple visits to complete. A TB skin test may also result in false positives due to cross-reactivity with the BCG vaccination or responses to environmental mycobacteria. These and other limitations have shown QFT to be the most effective and best alternative to TB skin testing.

Q: What are the benefits of the QuantiFERON® - TB Gold in-Tube test?

A: Some of the penefits include:

- · Requires only one visit
- Does not compromise previous test results
- is a controlled laboratory test
- Is objective and not affected by interpretation
- Results can be available in as little as 72 hours.

Q: Is the QuantiFERON test approved by the CDC and FDA for TB testing?

A: Yes, both the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) have approved the use of the QuantiFERON - TB Gold in-Tube test (QFT).

Well ahead!

Q: Who at Main Line Health will be required to receive the QuantiFERON test?

A: Currently, all new-hires of Main Line Health are receiving the QFT test, and Main Line Health will be transitioning all annual tuberculosis required employees and volunteers to the QFT test beginning July 1, 2012.

Q: I am a MLH employee who is currently required to complete an annual PPD Skin Test, will I need to complete the QuantiFERON test?

A: Infection Control is currently working to redefine which employees at MLH will be required to complete an annual tuberculosis test. If it is determined that your position will require an annual tuberculosis test to be completed, you will be required to complete the QuantiFERON test instead of the PPD Skin Test.

Q: I have a history of a past-positive PPD and normally complete an annual Positive PPD Questionnaire, will I be required to complete the QuantiFERON test for medical surveillance?

A: Yes, you will be required to receive the QuantiFERON test initially which will determine if you are a confirmed positive. If you are confirmed as a positive, you will be required to continue annual monitoring, regardless if your position is taken off the annual requirement list by Infection Control. If you are confirmed negative by the QFT test, the Infection Control guidelines will determine if you are required to complete an annual tuberculosis test.

Q: Where will the QuantiFERON test be offered?

A: Currently, the QFT test is being offered at the Paoli and Lankenau Occupational Health offices. Other testing locations are as listed on the QFT instructions sheet.
