The Power of Community over 100 years.
As we find ourselves in the midst of this long-anticipated summer, I hope you are taking time to recharge, enjoying a break in the stress of busy work and family schedules. During this exciting time of year, we are reminded of the great area in which we live. Many of us who work at the hospital also live in this area. I hope by reading the inspiring stories in the pages ahead, you get a sense of our longstanding tradition in this community — caring for our own colleagues, friends and neighbors. While we read about the changes happening nationally in health care, every day at the hospital we are focused on providing the very best care to our patients. Our gratitude to the donors and volunteers who help make this care possible has never been stronger. Thank you for being part of our exceptional community hospital!

I hope you will share any questions, thoughts or suggestions with myself or Jim Paradis. Drop us a note, send us an email at debonisc@mlhs.org or call the Foundation office at 484.565.1688. We would love to hear from you!
At Paoli Hospital, we are enormously proud of our history and our growth throughout the decades – always staying on the leading edge of health care and evolving to meet the unique needs of our patients.

As we reflect back on the celebrations commemorating the 100th anniversary, our trustees, nurses, medical staff, administration, volunteers and employees salute the Paoli Hospital Auxiliary for its remarkable contributions to the Hospital. Since our founding – when the Auxiliary was created to provide volunteer staffing and specialized services, as well as raise funds – the Auxiliary has provided invaluable support to our hospital and community.

In more recent years, the Auxiliary’s special events and gift and thrift shops have helped the Hospital tremendously through their extraordinary contributions to the Maternity and Nursing Expansion Campaign, Pavilion Campaign, Cancer Center, Holloway Breast Health Center, Emergency Department and other critically important hospital initiatives. Since 1988 alone, the Auxiliary has contributed more than $8 million to Paoli Hospital. Every department has benefited from the Auxiliary’s hard work and generosity!

If it has been some time since you participated in the events that the Auxiliary organizes during the year – Mistletoe & Magic, the Golf Tournament or fashion shows – I encourage you to consider returning for one or more of these first-class seasonal events.

It’s incredible how much can be accomplished when 260 energetic, smart, talented women share a passion – and amazingly fortunate for Paoli Hospital and our patients, who are the beneficiaries of their shared bond and tireless labors. Hearty congratulations and grateful thanks for another year – in fact, 100 years of superb service!

Sincerely,

Jim Paradis
To help fund the first expansion of the fledgling hospital, Pierre du Pont generously donated $22,000 in 1917 – a charitable gift that was matched with contributions from the community.

In the 1920’s, advancements in medical care resulted when patients with infectious diseases were separated from the general patient population. This patient safety practice was reinforced by state inspectors who required a separate maternity ward to benefit mothers and newborns.

During the Great Depression, with so many in the community out of work, the hospital’s physicians each contributed $200 to cover $10,000 in unpaid hospital bills. In fact, financial sacrifices made by physicians and staff throughout the 1930’s were the key to the hospital’s survival...

“In fact, financial sacrifices made by physicians and staff throughout the 1930’s were the key to the hospital’s survival...”
survival – if not always the survival of its patients. At that point in the history of medicine, little could be done for those with pneumonia and tuberculosis, and a cancer diagnosis was considered hopeless.

Despite the horrors of World War II, the war produced incredible advances in medical knowledge and surgical techniques. In 1944, in honor of those who lost their lives, the hospital’s name was changed to Memorial Hospital of Chester County. The community was once again asked to contribute to the expansion of the outdated facility, but because post-war labor and material costs had skyrocketed, plans were put on hold until 1949.

Our first Auxiliary was formed within weeks of the Board’s first meeting in 1913, and by the 1950’s the auxiliaries were a well-established and important source of support for the hospital, which had now grown to 120 beds. Throughout the last 100 years, the auxiliaries have greatly helped to sustain our hospital, contributing many hours of hard work and personal creativity to raising funds for crucial patient care services.

By the 1960’s, the hospital building in West Chester had greatly deteriorated. Despite the nursing shortage at the time, the hospital’s financial situation required that night nurses take on the responsibility of checking the unpredictable boilers every hour to record their pressure.

…”We are lucky, as a community, that dedicated men and women believed that Paoli Hospital was a worthy cause to support, and that their gifts would have an impact on its future.”
Our nurses even shoveled snow when necessary, and helped the lab staff by feeding the rabbits that were kept on the roof for pregnancy tests.

Without a large endowment to help defray expenses, and with low patient volumes, Paoli Memorial could not continue to operate at a deficit. The Board engaged health care management consultants, architects and planners to survey the community, assess the facility, and make recommendations based on local needs. The most compelling option was to invest in a new hospital in an area of greatest growth – a 23-acre site on a hill in Paoli.

In Marjorie H. Panitt’s book, The History of Paoli Hospital, Nelson Aspen, MD is quoted as saying: “This hospital exists because the Board didn’t understand the meaning of discouragement or failure…” On September 21, 1968, ambulances transported patients from the old facility in West Chester and arrived at the new, air-conditioned, 104-room Paoli Memorial Hospital.

During the next 45 years to the present day, Paoli transformed itself from a small community hospital to a health care institution with a standard of care once found only at large academic medical centers. Whenever the Board was confronted with a seemingly insurmountable obstacle, people who loved this hospital – trustees, medical staff, auxilians, volunteers, employees and community members – donated the necessary funds to initially sustain the hospital, and eventually, to help it thrive.

We are lucky, as a community, that dedicated men and women believed that Paoli Hospital was a worthy cause to support, and that their gifts would have an impact on its future. Over time, thoughtful charitable giving has helped to develop Paoli into the award-winning regional hospital we know today. We are honored to be part of this community, and look forward to working together as the hospital begins its second century of service.

As a nurse, I’m used to taking care of people, and as a mother, I wanted to care for my girls. It was really hard for me, knowing that I wasn’t able to care for my newborn babies the way I had expected,” Kristen Russino recalls.

Kristen’s twin daughters, Morgan and Alexa were born ten weeks premature, weighing just over three pounds each. They were under neonatal intensive care at Paoli Hospital for two months.

“I felt pretty powerless, but the doctors and nurses in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU) did an amazing job and involved me in each step of my babies’ care,” Kristen continues. “I know they were in the very best hands. And, if they couldn’t be home with me in those first couple of months, there is nowhere else I’d rather have them be.”

Kristen, a labor and delivery nurse at Paoli, and her husband, Joseph Russino, MD consider many of their colleagues at the hospital as extended family.

“I’ve been delivering babies here for over 15 years and Kristen has practiced as a nurse in Labor and Delivery here for 12 years. It feels like home to us,” explains Dr. Russino.

“When I found out we were expecting twins, it was a bit overwhelming, but we were excited to start our family. It was only natural that this amazing group of our colleagues and friends would help to deliver and care for our babies,” Kristen recalls.

“I know Paoli’s NICU nurses as colleagues, but I saw them in a new light. When they were taking care of Alexa and Morgan, I saw them at their best. They were incredibly attentive to me as a new mom.
Where Great Care

Despite the fact that I’ve delivered and cared for thousands of newborns, I still needed that reassurance as a first-time mom. I thought I knew what to expect, but I really had no idea. Each nurse that cared for the girls was wonderful and the continuity of care in the NICU was amazing. The doctors and nurses worked so closely together, and with me, to provide care for my girls,” explains Kristen.

“I deliver babies all the time and some have needed the NICU. I always had respect for the staff’s skill and expertise, but when they cared for my own girls, I depended on them in a way I never could have imagined. It was phenomenal the way they would put my mind at ease in some of the most challenging times. I really have a deeper appreciation for the care they provide to patients and families,” adds Dr. Russino.

“All of our NICU staff, including neonatologists, nurse practitioners, and therapists work in partnership with Nemours/A.I. DuPont to provide the most advanced clinical care to our most fragile patients,” explains Glenn Kaplan, MD, Chief of Neonatology for Main Line Health.

Dr. Kaplan continues, “Morgan and Alexa’s NICU experience demonstrates the extraordinary advantage we have here at Main Line Health as a healthcare system. For ten days, they were cared for at Lankenau’s Level III NICU. They progressed well and when they no longer needed the highest level of intensive care, we were able to transfer them to Paoli’s Level II NICU, where they would be closer to home and more accessible to Dr. Russino during his workday at the hospital.”

The artwork was donated by the Philadelphia Zoo to honor Paoli Hospital Foundation trustee and Philadelphia Zoo board member Sandra Baldino and her family. Sandra’s two sons, Douglas and Harris, were born at Paoli Hospital. Harris spent his first two weeks under intensive care at Paoli’s NICU.

While in the NICU, Morgan and Alexa faced some setbacks with their feeding. “They needed to take two ounces of food, every three hours, for two consecutive days, before they could be discharged home. Often, they would fall asleep and not take a full feeding,” Kristen explained.

Details of a baby’s progress in the NICU are shared through a web-based application called Cribnotes®. Every morning, before going in to the NICU, Kristen would receive an email update which would outline how the girls slept and ate through the night.

“It was a bit of a roller coaster,” Kristen recalls. “Every day, I would track how much they ate and try to figure out if they were any closer to coming home.”

Finally, nearly 2 ½ months after Kristen and Dr. Russino welcomed Morgan and Alexa into their lives, they would welcome them into their home. “This past year has been unforgettable for our family. The twins just celebrated their first birthday and I am really enjoying them this summer. It’s hard to believe how far we’ve come in a year. Our stay in the Paoli NICU seems like a distant memory, but it is one that I’ll never forget. The kindness and support we received there was just amazing.”

The Hattersley Family-Centered Maternity Unit was recently renovated and expanded to meet the growing need for maternity care in our community. The hospital’s fundraising campaign, Where Great Care Comes to Life, was a tremendous success, raising $4.5 million to fund one-third of the equipment and construction costs. The unit, which opened last fall, now encompasses the entire second floor of the hospital. The facilities include: 36 private patient rooms; four triage rooms; a new, expanded NICU; two operating rooms; and a Newborn Nursery.

“I am proud that our practice supported this important capital campaign. I’ve seen a wonderful charitable spirit among our patients, physician colleagues and the community at large, which I hope continues. Gifts to the Maternity and Neonatal Intensive Care Units will help support these extraordinary new facilities and the care provided here.”

“It’s amazing – the number of things that they do,” said Leonard Humphrey, speaking of the 500-member strong volunteer force at Paoli Hospital that he joined 19 years ago. Mr. Humphrey has served many areas of the hospital through the years, including patient transport, the Emergency Department, the mail room, and the cafeteria, where he can currently be found helping manager Tiffany Phelps-Brown and her staff.

When asked what first drew him to Paoli Hospital when he moved to Chester Springs many years ago, Mr. Humphrey related that many of the new friends he was making at church spoke highly of the Hospital. When he was in rather sudden need of hospital care, he knew that Paoli was the place to go. Although he fortunately has not needed to be hospitalized again since his initial visit, he remembers that he had a positive experience both in the Emergency Department and on the patient floor. Mr. Humphrey also recalls the “friendly and competent” staff who took good care of him. One experience, in particular, stuck with him. A new friend from church appeared at his bedside one day wearing a Volunteer smock with books in hand for him to read during his week-long stay. At that point, Mr. Humphrey resolved that as soon as he was able, he would join the ranks of Paoli Hospital volunteers.

When he retired from his position as a lead electrical engineer with General Electric, Mr. Humphrey began helping in the X-Ray department handling patient transportation. He relates, “among the group volunteering at that time were many GIs, like myself, who had served in World War II.” While waiting to carry patients, the group shared stories and developed friendships, which have lasted until this day.

When Mr. Humphrey reflected on the positive experiences he and his late wife, Rosemary, had at Paoli, he was inspired to contribute financially in addition to donating his time to Paoli. Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey chose to make their initial gift in the form of a charitable gift annuity, a simple vehicle that supported Paoli Hospital while providing steady, ongoing payments to the Humphreys that are partially tax-free. Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey realized that they could make a significant gift to Paoli while also prudently enhancing their retirement income. The process of creating a charitable gift annuity proved so easy that the Humphreys made a second gift of this nature a few years after the first.

What is perhaps most remarkable is that Mr. Humphrey has taken the extraordinary step of donating back to Paoli Hospital the quarterly payments he receives from one of his gift annuities. Mr. Humphrey notes that he currently doesn’t need the income, and likes the idea of the additional funds being utilized by the Hospital.

As a charitable gift annuity donor, Mr. Humphrey is a member of The Paoli Society, a group of special donors who have expressed their commitment to Paoli Hospital in their long term financial and estate plans. Typical forms of gift planning include providing a bequest provision in one’s will, funding a charitable gift annuity, or naming a charity as a partial beneficiary of a retirement or life insurance plan. Mr. Humphrey recalls that as a member of The Paoli Society, he participated in a special opportunity to tour the new Pavilion before it opened to the public. Having seen the building progress each week as he volunteered at Paoli, he greatly appreciated this insiders’ tour.

For many reasons, Paoli Hospital’s status as a non-profit is important to Mr. Humphrey. He appreciates the fact that Paoli Hospital serves both as a provider of community services such as health screenings and wellness programs, and also as a place where volunteers can give back in a variety of ways. He sees volunteer service as a definite win-win: the network of volunteers, of which he is a vital member, is a key benefit to Paoli, but the experience also serves the volunteers well by providing meaningful connections and opportunities to be of service.

Paoli Hospital is certainly lucky to have such a dedicated and charitably-minded volunteer in its midst. Mr. Humphrey thinks that our region is equally lucky to be served by Paoli Hospital, a community institution dedicated to excellence in health care.

“Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey realized that they could make a significant gift to Paoli while also prudently enhancing their retirement income. The process of creating a charitable gift annuity proved so easy that the Humphreys made a second gift of this nature a few years after the first.”
Paoli Hospital Auxiliary commemorated the hospital’s 100th anniversary on November 23rd with a very special Mistletoe & Magic fundraising gala at the Phoenixville Foundry. More than 375 guests gathered to celebrate and honor the rich history of the hospital. Attendees enjoyed cocktails, butlered hors d’oeuvres, a silent auction and a seated dinner.

The evening featured a short program with remarks from Denise Degus, President of the Paoli Hospital Auxiliary, Jim Paradis, President of Paoli Hospital, and Jack Lynch, President and CEO of Main Line Health, as well as a video presentation entitled “Honoring Our Past. Celebrating Our Future.” Following the program, Robert C. Fried, MD, Vice-President of Medical Affairs at Paoli, presented a raffle drawing and live auction—items for bidding included a seven-night Mediterranean yachting voyage and a VIP parking space at the hospital. The evening concluded with live music from Chico’s Vibe.

Approximately $200,000 was raised from the event which will support replacing the nurse call system on the 4th floor of the original hospital. The 4th floor unit handles surgical patients when other areas are at capacity. The new nurse call system is an important upgrade for our patients to ensure a consistent level of care, safety and service.

Over the years, the Auxiliary has raised funds for many projects, including new surgical suites in the Pavilion, a larger and more advanced maternity unit, Nursing Excellence and the Holloway Breast Health Center. The Auxiliary is a team of over 250 members from a variety of backgrounds and traditions, possessing a multitude of skills and talents. Their common bond is a passion for Paoli Hospital.

Paoli Hospital Hosts Trauma Symposium

The Paoli Hospital Trauma Team hosted its annual Trauma Symposium in November. Over 220 health care professionals attended the program, which featured presentations on traumatic pelvic fractures, emergent pediatric airway management; and caring for the patient, family and health care team after a traumatic suicide attempt. Paoli’s Regional Trauma Center provides access to around-the-clock neurosurgical, orthopaedic, surgical specialty, and intensive care services, as well as a range of trauma prevention and educational programs.

Main Line Health Center at Exton Square holds ribbon cutting

The doors of the new 32,000 square foot, state-of-the-art Main Line Health Center at Exton Square, located inside the Exton Square Mall, are open. This new facility offers patients the ease of having one location where they can see their physician or specialist, obtain lab work, undergo imaging studies, screenings, and physical rehabilitation, and receive cancer treatments. Patients will also have the ease of complimentary valet parking, one-step registration and seven-day urgent care.

Paoli Hospital Foundation welcomes new Trustees

The Paoli Hospital Foundation Board recently elected the following four new Trustees: Christopher Annas of Malvern, Kenneth Huffman of Newtown Square, Tom MacCrory of Malvern, and Leighton Yohannan of Malvern.

The Trustees of the Paoli Hospital Foundation help to build and maintain the culture of private philanthropy that is so essential to our hospital’s mission. Their efforts help ensure that Paoli Hospital has the resources it needs to fulfill its commitment to offering personalized, leading-edge care.

State Farm Supports Mock Crash Program

Paoli Hospital’s Trauma Center and Community Services team staged a Mock Crash event at three area high schools. This event simulates an accident scene involving teens driving under the influence or while distracted, crashed cars, victims and distraught parents. Each spring, in conjunction with prom season, the Mock Crash program reaches thousands of high school students with this gut-wrenching dramatization. State Farm Insurance Company has supported the program since its inception at Paoli Hospital in 2010.

The Paoli Hospital Auxiliary hosted its Annual Golf Tournament at Whitford Country Club on Monday, May 12th. Robert Fried, MD, Vice President of Medical Affairs, was honored for his generous support of the Auxiliary and the hospital, as well as the expert care he has provided to many of our family members, friends and neighbors. The event attracted more than 130 golfers and generated $95,000 to support important capital projects at Paoli Hospital. Thank you to all of the participants and Committee members! As a community, we are fortunate that these dedicated men and women believe Paoli Hospital is a worthy cause to support. Over time, this thoughtful charitable giving has helped to develop Paoli into the award-winning regional hospital we know today.
We acknowledge and thank our members of The H. Phelps Potter Society for their generous support of $1,000 or more from July 1, 2012 - June 30, 2013.

As the Hospital begins its second century of service, the Paoli Hospital Foundation is launching the Always There with Great Care Campaign – a fundraising effort encouraging our community to help meet the hospital’s highest priority needs and plan for future patient programs. Gifts to the Campaign provide an important source of flexible funds for advancing patient care. Your charitable gifts will help sustain leading-edge health care programs that save lives, promote patient safety and improve the quality of life in our community.

Paoli Hospital is always there with great care. To learn more about the Campaign or make a gift, please contact the Paoli Hospital Foundation at 484.565.1385, visit us online: mainlinehealth.org/phgiving or use the reply envelope inside.
